

Jasmine Crockett
25 years old
Senior at Rutgers University-Newark (major Video Production)
Final Project for Intro to Photography Class (Professor Colleen O'Neal) via email (jasminecrockett95@gmail.com)
May 31, 2020

For this project I decided to focus on hands which in today's climate are considered kryptonite to everyone's immune system. The power of touch has the ability to reduce stress, lower blood pressure and heart rate. My hand portraits show the power behind touch or the lack of it. It could be the power of giving or the fear of transmitting something potentially deadly. During this time of quarantine we can all agree on one thing we need one another to get through this.